

Academy Sports Scientist

An exciting opportunity has arisen for a highly motivated Sports Scientist to join our Category I Academy.

The successful candidate will support the performance and physical development of our Foundation and Youth Development Academy players, forming part of a forward thinking multi-disciplinary support team.

You'll need a relevant degree and experience of delivering sports science/fitness coaching in a competitive environment, as well as high levels of energy and the flexibility and resilience that our sport demands.

With a salary range of £24-£28k, dependent on experience, an employee bonus scheme and a great CPD offer, this is a fantastic and immediately available opportunity to join our Newcastle United family.

You can find a full job description and information on how to apply on our website:
